Samsung Kies 3.2.17013.3 Android Apps download. Samsung Kies Mobile.Q: iCalendar - Add random event on top of all previously created events I have in my application some data to be processed, namely an array of iCalendar events, which I need to make a random selection from this array, and insert into the calendar as a "new" event. So far, I have no problem adding new events (event can contain some data to be made random too): var id = Guid.NewGuid(); var ev = new Microsoft.Office.Interop.Outlook.AppointmentItem(); ev.Subject = "The new event"; ev.Body = string.Format("Hello. Event ID: {0}", id); ev.Start = DateTime.Now; ev.End = DateTime.Now.AddDays(1); ev.Location = "Random location"; ev.Body = string.Format("Hello. Event ID: {0}", id); This results in a new event "The new event" with a subject "The new event" and body "Hello. Event ID: abc123". However, if I add another event, "The second event" like this: var ev = new Microsoft.Office.Interop.Outlook.AppointmentItem(); ev.Subject = "The second event"; ev.Body = string.Format("Hello. Event ID: {0}", id); ev.Start = DateTime.Now; ev.End = DateTime.Now.AddDays(1); ev.Location = "Random location"; ev.Body = string.Format("Hello. Event ID: {0}", id); I end up with a new event (The second event) with both body and subject containing the same string, i.e. "Hello. Event ID: abc123". This is because I cannot edit the original event, f988f36e3a
