"Share for Review makes it easy for all users to access the highest quality images in the world," said Todd Kopra, vice president of Adobe Creative Cloud, Marketing & Technology. "We're thrilled to be introducing this collaborative, production-ready experience that leverages current content sharing networks, such as Twitter, to imagine the future of how we collaborate across our apps and get more of Photoshop into the hands of people, and across surfaces." New one-click behaviors like the new Delete and Fill tool in Photoshop let users quickly eliminate or replace an object on a page, and paste selected artwork from a browser into Photoshop for seamless workflow. These features are powered by Adobe Sensei AI technology, previously announced by Adobe executives as coinciding with the advent of the iOS 13 platform. Adobe Sensei AI technology uses an approach of deep learning and machine learning to take the guesswork out of how to prepare images for smart photo editing. It provides a foundation for an image processing pipeline that is able to understand the relationships between content, objects, geometric data and lighting within an image, resulting in consistently great photos. The new Classic Clean brush now removes dust and scratches when cleaning up fine details. To reduce the time it takes to apply brush settings, the new Content Aware Fill tool will also be usable with the classic Sample option. A Content Aware option will be added to the thumbnail preview for the layer panel. When navigating a file, users will be able to see which region of an image is complete, resulting in a more efficient editing workflow. Additionally, the Fill box in the Layers dialog will show the text and vector masks that are used to create the fill. Users can easily select, copy and paste layers using the new one-click Edit in Shape tool and the navigation panel.
